A WATER LILY.

A Gentleman's Sad Experience With.

Written for the BUCKENRIDGE NEWS.

Down where the water lilies grow

My fair companion, Ruth and I,

When playing near a gentle stream,

And watching the bubbles passing by,

We slipped our hands and laughed with glee

A cherry would burst and come, and go,

The white foam kissed the milky brink,

The little fish leaped from the green.

How sweet and cool beneath that shade,

Where the weeping willows weep,

And as the breeze would lift my brow

Chinny felt a sleep.

No long sleep, for soon there came,

A voice, a smiling stream,

I woke and scarcely could believe,

And vain would have it all a dream.

I called aloud, "Where are you Ruth?"

"Ah! I have hidden some where!"

When I sought in the cold, clear stream

Aquiline of her golden hair,

With haste I sprang in the water,

And carried her gently to shore

And the light had gone from her eyes,

I would play with her there no more.

She called as I ran in the night,

Right hand to right hand,

And clung to the water lily,

She held me with her white hand.

Too far she had stepped from the rock,

Where the lily hid its face,

And she fell in the water embrace,

She fell in the water embrace,

Then the world was darkness then,

A dim shadow of her eyes,

Since Lord had taken from my side

My little playmate, Ruth.

They dressed her in a robe as white

As the pure and downy snow;

No thills and no pretty smile

Like mine, she lay so low.

And I stand alone by little grave

Where the water lilies grow.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Canal, Wis., was

troubled with Neuralgia Rheumatism

his stomach was disordered, his liver

was affected to an alarming degree,

appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years'

standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucken's

Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had a large fever sore on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric

Bitters and one box Bucken's Arnica

Salve cured him entirely. Sold by G. W. Short.

PICKING UP A VEST.

A Woman's Idea of Handling The German.

Did you ever see a woman handle a man's vest?

And have you noticed with what sublime sweet consciousness of knowledge

she invariably picks it up by the bottom and spills all its contents on the floor?

"Mary," said Major De Haven, as he passed slowly into his home the other evening, "it is infernally hot, and if you don't mind I'll just take off my coat and vest and see if I can't get cool."

The Major removed those precious garments and laid them across the foot of the bed.

Have you noticed that a married man always throws his clothing across the foot of the bed, making it a sort of hat and coat rack? And you have also noticed that within two minutes

thereafter his wife is engaged in removing his garments to a more proper place.

Then the trouble begins.

The Major's vest was just a common piece of white goods, built for summer

use, but it fairly bristled with lead pencils, paper knives, note books, silver money and a watch and chain. Every pocket was stuffed with the Major's instruments of toil, and everything so adjusted that he could produce any article desired in the twinkling of an eye.

"Major," said Mrs. De Haven, "the bed has no place for your coat and vest,"

"I'll get them on a chair."

She picked up the vest carefully in her left hand. Everything in it rattled and clattered, but stayed. The Major shouted:

"Confound it, Mary, don't pick that vest up by the bottom. You'll spill everything out. Carry it by the top if you must monkey with it."

"Major," said the good woman, "I guess I know my business. And I guess

I'm too old and been married too long

not to know how to manage clothing."

She still held the vest in her left hand, but she strengthened its personality a trifle by pressing in against herself with her right hand. A woman always does that. She started for the chair. The Major held his breath in anticipation of the wreck which he knew was coming, yet dared not attempt to prevent it.

It is a woman's idea that the neck of a chair. Where she got it the Lord only knows, but it seems part of her mission

on earth to insist upon this point.

Mr. De Haven was no exception to the rule. She rushed across the room and threw the Major's vest across the back of a chair.

Then there was a wreck.

Lead pencils, knives, note-books,

watch and chain and every conceivable

thing that a man can carry in his vest pockets flew hither and thither in every direction.

The Major was furious. He arose in his wrath and made remarks he was sorry for afterwards. Then he went to work to restore the contents. He crawled under the bed for his mail bag, fished

the lead pencils from under the dresser, and got his note-book out of the grate.

"Mary," said he, at last, "I have told you so often not to throw my vest over a chair. Now, you see what trouble it makes."

"No trouble at all, Major," responded his good woman, "but I didn't take long to pick the things up again."

The object lesson was entirely lost.—

Now Try This.

It will cure nothing and will surely

you. If you have a Cough,

Cold, or any trouble with Throat, Chest or Lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Croup and Colds, is guaranteed to give relief, or money will be paid back. Sufferers from La Grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle at once, and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is.

It is sold by G. W. Short, Drug Store.

Large size 50c. and $1.

The Cause of Present Low Prices of Cotton.

An Arkansas correspondent, whose neighbors are becoming excited about cent cotton, wants to know if the McKinley tariff has had anything to do with the present low prices. Of course it has. Since their goods have to pay a heavier tax at the New York

Custom House, before getting to American consumers, how can the British spinners and weavers afford to pay as much for their raw cotton as they did under the lower tariff? The more

McKinley's tariff is looked into, the more clearly it is seen to be a scheme

for fattening a few legions in the "industrial States" while starving honest producers in other parts of the country.

LOCAL NEWS.

Len Tait is teaching the Belltown school.

Charlie Sawyer has resigned his position with F. Fraise.

Born, Aug. 23d, to the wife of Horace Lewis, a fine 10 pound boy.

W. H. Bell and J. T. Gault, Harlinsburg, were in town Monday.

Miss B. Ada Drury's notice to parents in this issue has the right ring to it.

Rev. O. J. Young, of Lexington, will preach at the Baptist church to-night.

Born, Aug. 21, to the wife of Andrew Jackson, deceased, a 12 pound daughter.

Sawyer & Nicholas, the painters, have dressed up the front of Wm. Vest & Son's business house.

A new roof is being put on the High School building and other much needed repairs are being made.

Mr. Adam Dutelke, of Moxleyville, called on the News yesterday and renewed his subscription.

Oak street has been graded and gravelled from Third to Fifth. It is now a very pretty street for driving.

Harlinsburg people are very busy now getting ready for the Association which meets next month.

V. G. Babbage was elected superintendent of the So. Methodist Sunday School at Harlinsburg last Sunday.

The Owensboro road to the iron bridge is reported in a wretched condition and the overseer should attend to it.

Harlinsburg has a splendid flow for a gas well. Although the water is 700 feet deep in the well there is a good flow of gas.

The farmers in the Hazel Dell neighborhood this county, say they have had very little rain and their crops are suffering.

M. Hamman has just received some new and elegant suits of furniture. They are rich and handsome designs and reasonable in price.

The pay roll at Victoria amounted to over $5,000 last month. This would indicate that Manager Miller is putting things through out there.

Capt. Wm. Vest, Miss Lizzie Hicks, F. N. D'Haye Alex Boyd and J. L. Miller are all getting down brick pavements in front of their property on Wall street.

We can see now why Mayor Pierce has resigned. The women of this town are going to make war on the council until the hog is relegated to the woods.

Last Monday was a real cat-fish business day. The town was full of people and the merchants were all busy, especially those who advertise in the News.

Mr. R. B. Pierce has resigned the office of Mayor of this city to take effect October 1st. Mr. Pierce has made splendid Mayor and his place will be hard to fill. He gives no reason for his resignation.

Marian C. Mill, Young and C. W. Mooreman's great new, modern, $100,000 stable at Garfield Park, Chicago, last Saturday. The purse was said to be worth about $22,000 in all. We hope Wick was in it for a good round sum.

The following marriage licenses were issued by County Clerk Wm. Vest last Monday: Mac L. Frank to Miss Sallie M. Shellen, Wm. B. Argabright to Miss Sarah Claycomb, all of near Union Star. The rites will be solemnized to-day.

Shoes and hats seem to be the theme of our advertisers this week. They are all anxious to sell and when they are in this not in it seems to us a good time to strike them for bargain. Call on them and mention the News.

Prof. W. F. Fels was in town Monday. He has been at Lebanon Normal School for three years past where he distinguished himself as a student. He has recently been elected principal of the Elizabethtown Graded School.

The spirit of improvement seems to have struck a number of our property owners. The carpenters, painters and brick-layers are all busy and the old town is moving in this direction at a pace she has never struck before. Let the good work go on.

The News has been favored during the past week with some very fine water-melons from our neighbors across the river. Messrs. Aaron Polk and Thomas Westbroth, and a big basket full of large luscious tomatoes from Capt. William Weatherholt, Sr., of the same locality. The melon crop over there is unusually fine this year and there is an abundance of them.

James W. Owen sold his dragstone last week to G. W. Short, who in turn sold a half interest in his own and the one bought to Eugene Haynes. The stone of the new firm is Short & Haynes. The stone will be thrown into one and the business conducted as formerly in the room occupied by Mr. Owen. The new firm has our best wishes. It is said that the room vacated by Mr. Short will soon be occupied by a large clothing firm.

We have just added to our Job department a new Nonpareil job press. This gives us more and better facilities for turning out work. The large increase of the business of this department renders it necessary. We now have a very complete office, and with the addition of steam power, which we hope to put in in a short while, we will have a well equipped job and newspaper printing establishment, as good probably as any in the State outside of the larger cities.

Perry County Indiana Fair.

On account of the Perry County Indiana Fair to be held at Leno, Ind., Sept. 14th to 19th inclusive, the L. & S. L. & T. R. R. will sell round trip tickets to Stephentown at the following rates: from Cloverport 40 cts.; from Harlinsburg 50 cts.; from Whitesville 60 cts.; from Lexington 70 cts.; from Louisville 80 cts. and 15 cts. to return until the 19th.

Rev. James Vernon's Lecture.

A good sized and appreciative audience listened to Rev. James Vernon, of Henderson, last Thursday evening, while he told them of his trip to Europe, Egypt and the Holy Land. Touching lightly upon the points of interest by the way, he devoted the main portion of his lecture to a description of Egypt and his twenty-eight days' sojourn in Palestine. Besides crowding into his lecture much interesting and valuable description, he had the happy faculty of enlivening his story with humorous illustrations and strengthening it with thoughtful observations. To crowd into one evening's entertainment an account of so extended a journey, requires no small degree of tact. In this the Rev. Mr. Vernon has succeeded admirably, and has given a lecture which is both pleasing and instructive.

Mrs. Jane Richardson's Awful Fate.

A special agent, which was carrying Judge Richard of Louisville, over the Richmond, Nicholasville, Irvine and Beattyville railroad, ran down Miss Jane Richardson and her three little girls on a high bridge, near Nicholasville, last Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Richardson was the engineer, but not in time to leave the bridge, and she gathered her little ones about her at the outside edge of the bridge and walked for the engine. She and two children were thrown from the bridge, and the mother was killed, while the two children were mortally wounded. A third child was left unscathed on the bridge.
